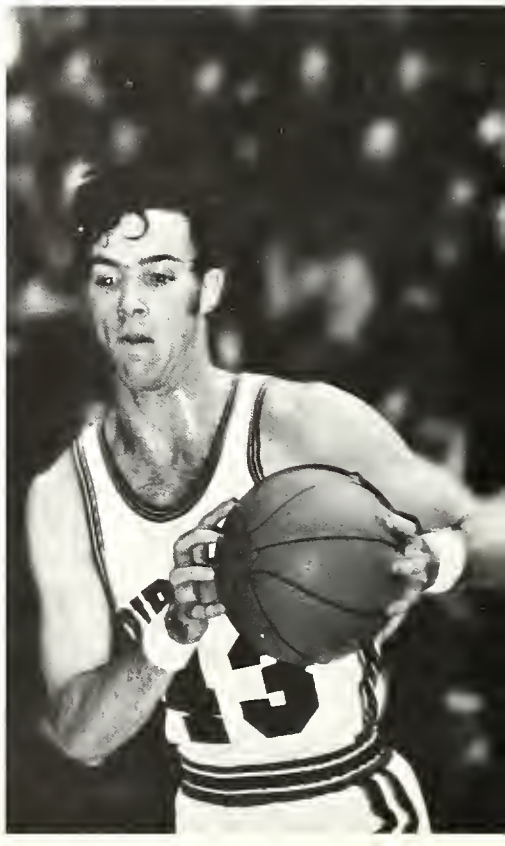
Patterns . . .

Patterns form the colorful mosaic
Of life.
Individuals are the pieces
That form the living whole of humanity.
Flowing patterns move
Toward the future
Controlling our lives
And forming our daily routines —
Unless we take the challenge
And form the patterns ourselves.
Madison Heights High School
Is a pattern —
One of learning and growing
And of being with others
In a time of youth.
Patterns . . . endlessly revolving
And changing to create life.



Patterns . . .

Patterns are formed
After an original theme
Of life.
Copying, yet becoming
A new experience each day.
A stained glass window
Of the lives of mankind,
Picturing the variety and color
Of character and personality;
Individuals moving to common,
Yet diverse goals.
Forming patterns of the future —
Building the universe of tomorrow.

Patterns . . .

Setting a precedent
For generations to come,
Students of Madison Heights
In 1970 form a pattern
Of their own.
The patterns of the future —
Careers, education, families —
Are being formed now.
Learning from the experienced
Shapes our minds into patterns
We will use forever.
Trying to form our lives
And create our beliefs and opinions
Into one living being . . .
A pattern
That is a forever kind of thing.
The pattern of the future.

Patterns . . .

Patterns are the basis of life.
Some create patterns
For the masses to follow,
And some follow the patterns
Of leaders.
In our relationships with others
We follow the patterns
Of society.
We create within the boundaries
Of the patterns
Something unique
With each person we contact.
Yet these feelings are universal.
Patterns . . .
The infinite variety of people
Is reflected in the equally infinite
Number of patterns.

ACADEMIC HONORS

Pirate scholars attain recognition for achievement

Ten students, including Valedictorian Carol Smith and Salutatorian Carol Bollinger, took academic honors in the senior class. Five boys and three girls were selected to attend Boys' and Girls' State between their junior and senior years. Poems of Literary Poetry winners appeared in the National Anthology of High School Students. National Merit Scholars produced scores in the top percentile of the National Merit Test.

Salutatorian — Carol Bollinger. Valedictorian — Carol Smith.

Poetry Anthology winners — Sherry Thompson, Lee Ann Edwards.

Assuming leadership roles, honored Pirates accept school responsibility

Five MH organizations awarded traditional titles to outstanding achievers this year.

In the Music Department, Mr. James Patton issued the Sousa Award to band member Karyn Fleischhauer, while Mr. William Frame presented choir accompanist Geoff McGillen with the Arion Award. Also honored from the Band were Head Majorette Landa Canine and Drum Majors Don Mellenthin and Doug Hawkins.

In the publication area, senior Nancy Cooper headed the Treasure Chest staff, and junior Carol Rudolph commanded the literary magazine, the Buccaneer. Steph Hofer was Jolly Roger editor-in-chief for the first semester, with Jennifer Vinson taking charge the second semester.

SEC sponsored Carol Zuber and Sheila Radaker abroad for the 1969 summer and welcomed two foreign exchange students to Anderson.

Classmates honor Pirate peers with royal recognition

Representing MHHS were Homecoming Queen, Treasure Chest Queen, Prom Queen, and Miss Scarlet and Mr. Black.

Homecoming candidates were elected from each class and the final announcement was made during half time of the Homecoming game.

The Treasure Chest Queen was named the "All American" MH girl of 1970 at the Muncie Central game.

During Sectional Week a boy and girl from each class were nominated for Miss Scarlet and Mr. Black. These students represented Pirate spirit throughout the week.

The 1970 Prom Queen was announced at the annual Junior-Senior Prom. Three girls from the junior class vied for the honor.

Homecoming Queen — Debbie Byrne.

Prom Attendant Diane McKenzie, Queen Gayle Hite, Attendant Leann Jones.

Second runner-up — Linda Gibson. Treasure Chest Queen — Sheila Radaker. First runner-up — Debby Ward.

Scarlet and Black hopefuls are announced prior to Sectional Week.

Mr. Black — Frank Estep. Miss Scarlet — Leann Jones.

"M" jacket winners — Tim Albea, Greg Nyboer, Bob Gilmore, John Yates, Curt Farran, Max Minnick, Ken Perkins.

Holiday Tourney co-captains — Kent Campbell, Coy Nunn.

State swim meet qualifier — Mike Withers.

SPORTS HONORS

Pirate sportsmen sack gymnastics, B-ball sectionals

A sports convocation marked the completion of each seasons' competition at Madison Heights. Awards were given to the outstanding Pirates by the teams coaches. Seven MH sportsmen currently hold possession of the honored "M" jacket for lettering in three sports.

Senior Mike Withers gained recognition by qualifying for state swimming competition for the second consecutive year. The gymnastics team added a trophy to the MH collection by winning the Sectional. The basketball team brought honors to the Pirates by winning the Anderson Holiday Tourney and receiving the Sectional trophy.

The patterns of activities

Happenings—the patterns of experience
From which we gain our understanding
Of people and things.
The traditional forms patterns for
Us to follow in the events
That occur every year at MHHS—
Homecoming—Sectional—
And the new traditions to come
That we form for others to follow
And be guided by.
Events are important patterns
In our lives.
As the years pass,
We remember them more and more fondly
From mementos we gathered while
Pausing in a pattern of exciting,
Exuberant, youthful life.

"PILLOW TALK"

Class of '69 presents Broadway's "Pillow Talk" as dramatic selection

Madison Heights Thespians and Footliters presented a one night performance of "Pillow Talk," under the direction of William A. Jennings and assistant director Mrs. Joseph Bigelow.

The comical situation centered around city boy Brad Allen's attempt to win interior decorator Jan Morrow's affection by portraying a Texas cowboy.

The play starred seniors Lynda Sears, portraying Jan Morrow; Mike Lee, alias Jonathan; and Tim Emswiller, as Brad Allen.

Faculty, will be teams prove tops in mock net games

Senior oldsters pitted forces against the upcoming sophomore and junior crew during the annual Has Been-Will Be game. The victorious Will Be's outshot the Has Beens with a score of 91-63.

High scorer Mike Shoemaker led the teacher's force to victory with 33 points in the Senior-Faculty game. Jim Sutton tallied an additional 22 points to boost the final score to 81-71.

Jeff Perry headed the senior squad with a total of 17 points, followed by Brad Childes' 16 markers and John Manifold's 14 points. Neal Rector and Frank Donaldson coached the defeated senior team.

festival performers

MH's two main music companies, Concert Choir and Concert Band, joined forces to present "Festival '69," a May music spectacular hosted every other year by MH.

With Russian scenes as background, Concert Choir donned peasant costumes to perform with song and dance highlights from "Fiddler on the Roof." Highlighters offered both a serious moment and a gay tone to the two-night production.

Concert Band numbers, entertaining sell-out crowds, included "Somewhere Over the Rainbow" and "Procenium." Stage Band featured modern tunes in its repertoire while Heightsteppers danced to lively "Bossa Nova" melodies. A traditional patriotic finale closed the curtains.

Honoring '69 seniors, the class of '70 presented on May 16 the gala of events, the Junior-Senior Prom.

Selecting "It Happens Every Spring" as a central theme, prom tri-chairmen Carol Bollinger, Corky Bowers and Tim Kean headed the junior crew in constructing green hedges, lattice arches, and a colorful wishing well. Spring scenes including blossoming fruit trees, a rustic bridge, and garden fountain decked both sides of the MH gym. Miniature maypoles decorated each table top.

After entering through a twinkling walkway of lattice and roses, couples danced to the music of the Dawn Five. Queen Debbie Byrne and Princesses Carol Bollinger and Karen Humphrey reigned over the event.

June 4 commencement ends high school career for seniors

Spirited seniors "fire up" before their victorious efforts against the junior teams.

The solemnity of baccalaureate opened a hectic Senior Week. After dragging the juniors through the mire of the Mud Tug, seniors received their last MH yearbooks at a pizza party. Tuesday the class picnicked at Noblesville's Hillside Park and then danced to the music of the Reactions at a dinner-dance held at the Anderson Country Club. Linder's was the site of the breakfast the next morning. On Wednesday, June 4, the graduating class received their diplomas.

AFS BUS TOUR

Pirates welcome AFS expedition

Thirty-nine students, representing twenty-nine different nations, arrived in Anderson Saturday, June 28, on a chartered bus from Madison, Wisconsin. General Chairman, Mrs. Eugene Yates, and SEC members endeavored to make the visitor's stay one of the highlights of the cross-country trip to Washington, D. C., where foreign students would meet for the last time before returning home.

On Sunday, the students were guests at a picnic. Before leaving on Tuesday, July 11, the visitors spent a busy Monday that included a tour of Emge Meat Packing Co., a luncheon at Peaches Pancake House, and a "Get Acquainted Party."

As the lunch line grows, AFS'ers prove that food is the same in any tongue.

MH'ers were kept busy in numerous activities during the summer of 1969. The members of the band attended band camp at Turkey Run for a week preparing their routine for Band Day where they won seventh place honors.

Four MH students attended Journalism Workshop at Ball State. Jennifer Vinson studied newspaper techniques, Jeff Atteberry improved his photography, and Nancy Cooper and Nancy Durham attended Yearbook Workshop. Three of the Student Council officers went to I.U. to the Student Council Workshop while President Gary Gates traveled to the Baltimore National Convention.

Seniors Susie Maddy, Rosalyn Lewis, and Letitia Withers were honored as 4-H County Fair Queen candidates. Susie Maddy was a runner-up.

CLASS OF '70 PLAYS

The Class of '70 unmasks acting Polishes performances as seniors in

On the 24th and 25th of April, the Class of '70 staged the three-act comedy of "Kiss and Tell." Written by F. Hugh Herbert, the play was updated from the setting of World War II and directed by Mr. William Jennings and student director Tim Emswiller.

Karen Humphrey, in the role of Corliss Archer, and Charlie Earhart as Dexter Franklin, starred in the story about a terrible misunderstanding. Also adding to the confusion were Sally McMahan as Mildred Pringle and Bill Kuntz as her boyfriend, Lieutenant Lenny Archer. The distracted parents were played by Nancy Cooper and Gary Edwards.

Jeff Atteberry's exceptional talent in portraying the bratty brother of Mildred Pringle brought him the honor of receiving the Thespian award for best supporting actor.

talents as Juniors in "Kiss and Tell," "George Washington Slept Here"

Climaxing a month of rehearsal and set building, the seniors opened the drama season with the Hart-Kaufman comedy "George Washington Slept Here", the story of the trials and troubles of a family moving into a Revolutionary War period house.

Gary Edwards, as Newton Fuller, bought an old dilapidated house and moved his wife Annabelle, Betty McColloum, his daughter Madge, Nancy Cooper, and Madge's boyfriend Steve, Roger Shinness, into the mess. Trouble with grouchy neighbors, snobbish actors, and inflation nearly forced them out of their country home, but they were saved in the final scene by Uncle Stanley, Bill Kuntz, and a fraudulent check.

Anticipation explodes into joy for Queen Debbie Byrne and escort Bill Kuntz.

Scores of MH grid fans gathered in the bleachers and left the Homecoming game of 1969 as proud Pirates after a win of 27-6 over the Muncie South Rebels.

Fourteen floats were entered in the pre-game parade. The senior class float, "Foil 'em with Rebel's Wrap", and homeroom 36, "Watch it Rebels, You're in Pirate Waters," won top honors in the float competition.

During halftime five radiant queen candidates were escorted onto the field hopefully awaiting the final announcement. Senior Debbie Byrne was crowned by tri-captains Rick Myers, Gussie Smith, and Jim Moorehead to reign as 1969 Homecoming Queen. Her court consisted of junior Gayle Hite, sophomore Melinda Ellis, and exchange students Dagmar Bielstein and Ciska Roselaar.

Holiday's emotions invade MH as Pirates prepare for pending vacation

Decorations appeared overnight at MH as Student Council members put up the traditional ornaments for the Christmas season. Doors were decorated for the annual contest. Homeroom 39 won first prize. Student Council also sponsored a penny postage service, delivering Christmas cards to students in homerooms.

Decking the cafeteria as "A Christmas Carol," the seniors presented the senior holiday dance featuring the Reactions. Cindy Upchurch and Nancy Durham headed the construction of the affair held on December 22.

Other Pirate projects included a sophomore class play presented at the Turtle Creek Nursing Home and a free concert given by the choir. For the first time in several years, MH won the Holiday Tourney, defeating Noblesville and Greenfield.

The yearly convo was changed with two seniors, Bill Kuntz and Jeff Atteberry, writing the take-off on Laugh-in that featured a joke wall and short skits combined with talent presentations.

A change in tradition was made this year in the crowning of the Treasure Chest Queen. For the first time the queen and her attendants were announced during half time of the Muncie Central basketball game on February 13.

The TC staff nominated the ten candidates from the upper third of the senior class. The entire school voted on the queen and the first and second runners-up.

Queen Sheila Radaker and her attendants, Debby Ward and Linda Gibson, along with the seven other candidates, were escorted onto the gym floor through an aisle formed by majorettes. SC President Gary Gates crowned the queen and presented her with roses. The queen and the two attendants received sterling charm bracelets.

Jones, Estep accept crowns at sectional pep session

A red and black clad student body, morning pep sessions, and hall displays highlighted Scarlet and Black week at Madison Heights.

MH cheerleaders selected teachers Maxine Barcus and George Johnson as Mrs. Scarlet and Mr. Black during the hour-long, pregame pep convo. Miss Scarlet, junior Leann Jones, and Mr. Black, sophomore Frank Estep, reigned over sectional week activities.

Junior Kelton Dickey won the Gorgeous Gams contest, conducted by the Jolly Roger. Senior runners-up Coy Nunn and Kent Campbell also received recognition.

"Mighty Mites Fight for Heights" was the slogan selected by the Jolly Roger for boosting the Bucs to a sectional victory. The Jolly Roger sports staff presented the Spirit Award to the Senior Class for displaying the most enthusiasm during the week. The Class of '70 also received the Hall Display Award.

Amateur actors star in Thespian Night of Two-Acts

A Shakespearian comedy and a western melodrama comprised Thespian's'' Night of Two-Acts,'' directed by Mr. William Jennings.

"The Taming of the Shrew'' depicted a complex situation where Katherine, Nancy Cooper, must marry before her younger sister. Katherine hated Petruchio, Gary Gates, who vowed to marry her.

"Blazing Guns at Roaring Gulch," a melodrama of a hero versus the villain, created an atmosphere of cheers, boos, and peanut-throwing. Bill Kuntz portrayed both the hero, with whom Linda Gibson, a female sheriff, falls in love, and the evil bankrobber.

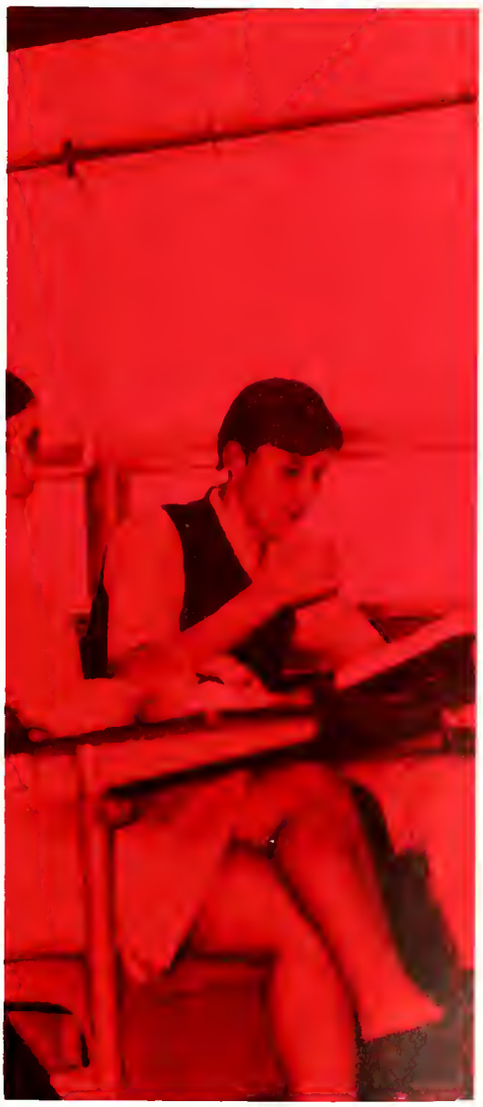
The patterns of academics



Academics—the patterns of learning.
School is an integral part
Of the lives of youth.
Madison Heights is an integral Part of us.
Knowledge and understanding
Of the concrete and the abstract
Of ages past, the present,
And the future.
Knowing is living.
Patterns are given to us to follow
Or cast away—
Whichever we learn is best
For the generation we represent.
Measured or sporadic thoughts
Are received in
Patterns—that enter the brain,
To be remembered or forgotten—
To mark the patterns of our minds.

Ample Language Arts curriculum encompasses every Pirate student

At least one language arts course completed the schedule of every MH Pirate. In addition to the standard English and Literature courses of sophomores and juniors, English Composition, World Literature, and Contemporary Literature were offered to seniors. Speech I, II, and Journalism trained the pens and voices of many students.

The head of the department, Mr. Edward Van Horn, and other area English teachers attended a workshop prior to the opening of school in the fall. At the workshop, which was held at North Side Junior High School, Professor Edward Jenkinson from Indiana University addressed the teachers on subjects relative to composition.

Students continued to express themselves more fluently through the various foreign languages offered. French, Latin, Spanish, and for the second year, German, were written and spoken in and out of the classroom. Three years of each of these languages were offered.

To widen today's youth's civic education and to help students develop creative interests were two of the general aims of the Social Studies department of Madison Heights. Headed by Mr. Henry McLain, this department offered a wide variety of courses.

Sophomores were required to take either World History or Modern Nations. Juniors studied U. S. History while seniors tackled Government and Economics.

Philosophy, Psychology, and Sociology were offered as electives. A vast amount of films, film strips, and slides were available for the social studies classes.

For the first time, a unified course in analysis was offered at the junior and senior level. This class covered the usual topics of trigonometry as well as vector analysis, analytic geometry, and an introduction to calculus. Analysis class took the place of the one semester courses in trigonometry and college algebra.

Mr. Maurice Wann, chairman of the MH Math Department and Area Supervisor of Mathematics, was active on the State Advisory Committee for the State Department of Public Instruction. This group completely revised the curriculum guide for mathematics at the state level.

Critically analyzing the new books up for adoption was an important task faced by the department. The selected textbooks were to become part of the curriculum for the 1970-71 school year.

BUSINESS

Business supplies expand with new desks, duplicators

Added to the Business Department this year was a Business Principles course, the purpose of which was to acquaint the students with the problems of organization and operation of business today. Also initiated this year were new typing desks and duplicators.

Bookkeeping, shorthand, and typing offered two courses each. Sales students studied income taxes while law classes profited from insurance agents' visits and heard talks by policemen on motor vehicle laws. Other business classes saw numerous films.

Numerous experiences widen art students' horizons

This year 144 HM students explored the sphere of creativity and self-expression. The first year students, with the aid of Mr. Riley, probed into the realm of water colors, pastels, and perspectives. First year classes familiarized the students with the basic concepts of art.

According to personal preference, the second and third-year students studied silk screening, commercial design, and clay modeling. Constant work and gathering of new knowledge broadened each student's horizon.

Striving for improved sound, Choir and Band practice in daily sessions

Numerous performances by several band and choir organizations promoted interest and appreciation for MH's varied musical program.

Music Theory class utilized new books to prepare seventeen students in basic music history and techniques. Instrumental classes in Stage Band, Solo and Small Ensemble, Marching Band, and Concert Band, all under the direction of Mr. James Patton, and a new orchestra led by Mr. Floyd Hurst produced constructive talent outlets for more than 100 musicians.

Emerging from the choral program this year were Concert Choir, Novelettes, Mixed Chorus, Highlighters, Girls' Chorus, and Anchormen, all directed by Mr. D. William Frane. Special aids used in class preparation included records which enabled students to apply skills to a similar song for style and approach.

Home Ec courses fashion futures for 370 Pirate coeds

Five courses under the supervision of Mrs. Winifred Bryant comprised the Home Ec Department. Demonstrating child care and visiting Head Start School were highlights of Child Development. Advanced Foods held a Teacher's Tea, and girls taking Clothing were especially interested in a Style Show.

Throughout the year girls garnered knowledge through the mediums of role-playing and visual aids, such as radioscopics, films, transparencies, and flash cards.

Drivers take to the cars to execute classroom principles

Driver's ed, one of the school's most popular classes, enrolled 180 Pirates per semester this year. Students learned to drive in 1970 Oldsmobiles donated by Saxon Oldsmobile-Cadillac. Hoping to eliminate injuries, the students studied safety and defensive driving. Four veteran and two novice instructors supervised the learners both in the cars and in the classrooms.

Talks by city and state police, insurance salesmen, and car dealers added interest to the classroom side of driver's ed. Accident films were shown to acquaint the new drivers with the consequences of carelessness on the highways.

Speakers explain, demonstrate latest methods of safety

MH safety students developed an awareness of the factors concerning the prevention of accidents and injuries. Sophomores, juniors, and seniors studied the treatment of various injuries to prepare them for emergencies they might encounter.

Movies and filmstrips helped illustrate the procedures to follow in the event of an accident. Guest speakers described numerous accidents and the methods prescribed in each case. To become more familiar with these methods the students applied bandages and splints and practiced artificial respiration.

Following the seasonal sports, Mr. John Horevay's classes practiced football and wrestled. The new crash pad acquired by the department made falls off the gymnastics equipment much easier to withstand.

The girls' classes, under the leadership of Mrs. Maxine Barcus, learned the basics of soccer and archery. The purchase of fencing equipment added a new sport to the girls' numerous activities.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS

Department gains welding devices, sandblasting tools

Industrial Arts and Vocational classes purchased welding equipment, sandblasting machinery, and a uniplane to advance the department's productivity. The two-year building trades course gave boys experience in all facets of construction, from designing to completion.

Filmstrips, industrial demonstrations, and technical manuals were combined to enrich the classes that enrolled 150 Pirates in Machine Shop, Metallography, Auto Mechanics, Woodworking I and II, Basic, Advanced, and Architectural Drafting, and Building Trades.

The patterns of organizations

Patterns of working as one
Build a stronger human togetherness
By cementing friendships and
Creating group participation.
Madison Heights hosts many Organizations—which create
Feelings of involvement in
Leaders and members.
Assuming duties and functioning
To one's fullest,
The urge to serve the school and
Student exemplifies all purpose.
These patterns are most useful
In our lives as we grow
To greater things
And form the patterns
Of our responsibilities.

SC starts student advisory board, sponsors young Navajo in Arizona

Student Council members wait patiently for the start of a regular Thursday meeting.

This year's student council, captained by Gary Gates, started the school year by sending seven representatives to the State Student Council Convention at Elkardt. This year's student council consisted of 34 regular members and seven ex-officios. Student Council again this year sponsored Homecoming and Scarlet and Black Week activities. S C initiated two new traditions: an all school co-ed week and sponsoring an Indian child from Arizona. Also established was a student advisory board in connection with student- faculty relations.

Following a tradition established last year was the continuation of the all school talent show.

Finishing up the school year was the faculty and the Has Been — Will Be game and conduction of the election of next year's Student Council officers.

HONOR SOCIETY

New constitution in Honor Society changes eligibility

The golden candle of scholarship, white of character, blue of service, and red of leadership used at the traditional candlelight ceremony, set the standard of Pirates inducted into the National Honor Society.

After receiving the approval of the MH faculty on the prospective members, the honor organization accepted seniors at the November induction. Juniors were required to satisfactorily complete the first semester before being inducted.

Under the direction of Sponsor Lee Johnson, the Honor Society officers undertook the job of changing the MH constitution by adjusting it to the needs of the school. A 3.3 grade average out of a possible 4 points became the requirement for eligibility.

President Tim Albea leads SEC as largest organization at MHHS

Under the direction of Mr. Paul Redding, the MH Student Exchange Club sponsored two foreign exchange students. Ciska Roselaar, from Holland, attended MHHS for one semester while staying with Rev. and Mrs. John Zuber. From Germany came Dagmar Bielstein, whose American parents were Mr. and Mrs. Phil Petro. Pirate students Sheila Radaker and Carol Zuber traveled to Europe during the summer of 1969 with the aid of SEC. Members sold bonds to help finance the trips.

President Tim Albea and officers Debbie Byrne, Gail Esche, and Debby Ward, heading the largest organization in the school, planned and organized a fish fry and an all-school dance as two of their projects. During SEC's special week in the spring, foreign exchange students from other schools spoke at an all school convo.

Amateur actors labor for dramatic excellence in Thespian endeavors

Thespians highlighted the school year with the production of two major plays, the annual Christmas convo, and a night of one-act plays.

Superior performances were turned in by many aspiring young actors and actresses. The senior class play, "George Washington Slept Here," broke all previous attendance records. A new twist was added to the holiday convo as Jeff Atteberry and Bill Kuntz emceed the take-off on television's popular "Laugh-In" series. The night of one acts ran the theatrical gamut from Shakespeare to western melodrama. Junior class members premiered in "Out of the Frying Pan," a comedy about six newcomers to the New York acting world.

Thespians, under the sponsorship of Mr. William Jennings, was presided over by Jeff Atteberry, president; Nancy Cooper, vice-president; Scott Webb, treasurer; Betty McColloum, secretary; and Sally McMahan, historian, during the '69—'70 season.

Members' medical knowledge bettered through Caduceus

Widening the scope of Pirate interest, the Caduceus Medical Association of Madison Heights traveled to the Indiana University Medical Center at Indianapolis. Under the direction of Sponsor Jim Jones, the students had the opportunity to survey the campus, obtain literary information on medical careers, and receive a guided tour of the Riley, Coleman, and Long Hospitals.

Local doctors donated time to discuss the medical profession with interested Caduceus members. A psychiatrist, veterinarian, pathologist, dentist, and general practitioner were among the guest speakers who appeared throughout the year.

"Castillians" study Spanish heritage, literature, culture

Spanish Club Officers – Marcia Judd, president; Gayle Graves, secretary-treasurer; Rick Conner, vice-president.

Under the sponsorship of Mrs. Pat Northcutt, a group of interested Pirates innovated a Spanish Club into the language department. President Marcia Judd, Vice-President Rick Conner, and Secretary-Treasurer Gayle Graves headed the Spanish Club during its first year.

The Spanish Club members chose to be called "Castillians". An auction was held as the first money-making project. Books, toys, and miscellaneous articles were auctioned at various prices. Other projects were organized as the club endeavored to increase participation.

During the Christmas season, members of the club contributed canned foods and a ham which were donated to a needy family.

Brain team airs academic abilities on WFBM-TV

Nine Madison Heights students carried on the Academic Bowl tradition, forming the 1969—1970 varsity and reserve teams with Mr. B. C. Smith as sponsor. The group worked to gain as much of the knowledge needed for the vast array of subject matter covered in the contests as possible.

Beginning the year with an all-school convo, the "East" and "West" teams fought a mental battle ending in a wide margin West victory.

The Pirate scholars competed on television twice with Indianapolis Howe and Kokomo Haworth, being defeated by Howe and winning over Kokomo Haworth. The group also planned a meet with the Anderson High Academic Bowl team.

TREASURE CHEST STAFF

TC chroniclers immortalize '69-'70 successes, defeats, accomplishments

The 1970 Treasure Chest, using the traditional MH red and black colors, has assumed a thicker look from the eight additional pages. A new method of processing has given the cover and pages of the Pirate log a different appearance.

The 1969- 1970 Treasure Chest staff strove to design a yearbook that would record the especially memorable events and the everyday happenings at Madison Heights throughout the school year.

Working with the theme of "Patterns," Editor Nancy Cooper and Sponsor Ann Smith aided and directed the eighteen-member staff. These Pirates worked to achieve the coveted goal of All-American, awarded by the National Scholastic Press Association. Attaining the zenith, the 1969 Treasure Chest received this award of merit.

Week end work sessions marked the completion of the five major deadlines met by the staff. Writing copy and captions, snapping last minute pictures, and planning layouts occupied the busy staffers' homeroom period.

JOLLY ROGER STAFF

Vinson succeeds Hofer at mid-term in Jolly Roger editor-in-chief position

The appearance of the Jolly Roger heralded Fridays at Madison Heights. Articles of interest, editorials, and sports were featured in the four-page, weekly paper. Sports-minded fans could follow the teams with avid interest through each season's activities. Others devoured the latest items covering a favorite club or extra-curricular activity. Readers were kept aware of current school events.

Stephanie Hofer served as Editor-in-chief during the fall semester, but graduated mid-term. Jennifer Vinson filled this spot for the remainder of the school year. Ron Waugh moved into the position of Managing Editor left by Jennifer's shift.

Journalism I and II students comprised the staff. Under the guidance of Mr. Ed Roettinger, the new advisor this year, journalistic skills were put into practical use.

New organization promotes scientific inquiries, projects

This school year witnessed an addition to the MH Science Department: the Science Club. Sponsors Mr. Maurice Wright and Mr. Jim Sutton formed the club in connection with the Future Scientists of America Club. It was created for the purpose of aiding students in the development of projects to be entered in the annual city-wide Science Fair which was held for the first time last year.

Club officers, David Norris, President; Don Jessup, Vice-President; and June Bennett, Secretary--Treasurer; conducted meetings at scheduled intervals throughout the year. Members discussed various problems and were advised in selection and instigation of projects.

Pirates enhance knowledge while assisting MH teachers during history, science, physical education, library science

Students sacrificed homerooms and before school activities to assist the MH faculty and pupils. These volunteer Pirates acquired practical experience by working in the counseling, student, and main offices performing a variety of duties.

Credits were gained by students acting as lab assistants in the General and College Chemistry classes. Other science courses also continued the use of student assistants in an effort to make more help available to the individual pupils.

MH library assistants aided fellow students in locating and checking out books. Mending and reshelving books was also a part of the daily routine.

P. E. leaders offered guidance and supervision to novice sophomores. The assistants also taught skills and insured further safety in the Physical Education classes.

Secretaries-to-be gain awareness of varied office tasks

Madison Heights students were able to discuss and prepare for their chosen careers in teaching, counseling, or secretarial work through Future Teachers and Future Secretaries Associations.

One of the goals of FTA was to set up a tutoring program. In this way members received experience working with students who required extra help. Another project of FTA was an annual candy sale held in the spring of the year.

The MH FSA was composed of sophomore, junior, and senior girls. Members of FSA gained a greater awareness of the responsibilities of a secretary and were prepared for a secretarial career through guest speakers and field trips.

MIXED CHOIR

Singers perform, learn, prepare for Concert positions

Learning the basics of music and participation in classroom and outside vocal activities, sixty underclassmen formed the Mixed Choir. Performing at the Christmas Convo, Baccalaureate, and Commencement, the group gained musical experience before audiences.

Fifteen Highlighters, accompanied by Geoff McGillen and advised by Mr. D. William Frame, performed for a variety of clubs and events. Girls dressed in colorful blue and green gowns, boys in tuxedos, the singers' busy schedule included engagements at churches, Anderson College, the YMCA, Killbuck Lodge, club parties, hospitals, and nursing homes. The group, comprised of junior and senior members of Concert Choir, also performed at many Concert Choir shows.

Band performs at Purdue half-time, marches to seventh at State Fair

The Madison Heights Show Band, under the direction of Mr. James Patton, opened the 1969 -1970 season by marching to a seventh place finish in the Indiana State Fair Band Contest at Indianapolis.

The band arranged half time routines for presentation at Purdue and Ball State football games. The band also performed at all home basketball and football games.

Band President Rick Wilson, Vice-President John Brehm, Secretary-Treasurer Jan Myer, Librarian Karyn Fleischhaur, Head Drum Major Don Mellinthin, Assistant Drum Major Doug Hawkins, and Head Majorette Landa Canine assisted Mr. Patton and provided leadership for band members.

Dance Band executes difficult selections at Ball State

Under the conduction of Mr. James C. Patton and his two aids from Ball State, the Madison Heights Dance Band took a first place position at the Ball State Area Contest. In the contest the eighteen member ensemble displayed the result of hard work in the difficult ballad "Queen Bee", The band also played "Freak Shrieks," which is a jazz number featuring the trombone section.

Besides performing at the Holiday Inn, YMCA, and the Americana Nursing Home, the ensemble was one of fifteen dance bands throughout the state invited to participate in a stage band contest held in Fort Wayne. Soloists featured this year were trumpet soloist Dave Craig, and tenor sax soloist Bill Slone.

Along with working at the school plays, musicals, and halftimes, the five boys making up the lighting crew this year, lighted the Blue Bell Ball in November and the Sweetheart Ball in February.

Heightsteppers add splendor to school, city-wide activities

At the opening of the '69—'70 school year, the MH Marching Band was escorted to a seventh place position at the Indiana State Fair by the twenty-three majorettes. Head majorette Landa Canine bore additional responsibilities because of the lack of a choreographer.

In addition to performing at home football and basketball games, the Heightsteppers added a touch of elegance to the opening of the Saxon Oldsmobile-Cadillac dealership, the subsequent barbeque, and the YMCA's annual membership drive.

Enthusiastic co-eds faithfully support hardwood crew

Pep Club members express hilarious joy as victory over AHS becomes apparent.

Decked in new black pant jumpers and white blouses accentuated by scarlet scarves, Pep Club members spirited the Pirates through the basketball season. In addition to supporting the Bucs at all home games, this year, for the first time, the enthusiastic co-eds followed the team to several away games.

Miss Gerda Gogolin and Miss Jill Newberry, sponsors, supervised regularly scheduled meetings where members practiced cheers and organized projects such as the selling of license plates and a two-day bake sale. New yells were introduced to the student body at Pep Convos and each Pep Club member's repertoire steadily increased.

Cheerleaders lead student body in original yells, chants

A round-off, three back handsprings, and a back somersault began the Pirate pre-game show as the Corsair mascot led the basketball team through the traditional "M" Club aisle at each game held in the Pirates' cove. The duties of mascot were shared this year, as Steve Berkebile took over Marcus Walker's slot mid-way through the season after Walker suffered a pulled leg muscle in a gymnastic meet.

Varsity cheerleaders Carol Bollinger, Kris Givan, Jeanie Delp, Susie Maddy, and Dawn Nyboer engineered pep sessions and led yells before and during the varsity games. As reserve cheerleaders, Cathy Gibson, Kathy McKain, Lou Ann Bassemer, Connie Samuels, and Linda Givan led Pirate supporters during the reserve team action. Both crews worked together each time the crowd rendered "Wave the Banner."

M-Club adds laughter to pep session with wild skits

Under the supervision of sponsor Mr. Paul Bradford, M-Club achieved an all-time high of 83 members, adding a burst of spirit to the basketball games. The lettermen formed the traditional victory aisle for the Pirates' entrance to the playing court. They also sparked the Muncie South pre-game pep session when they annihilated "Rebel" Mike Withers.

The members hosted the annual spring Lettermen's Banquet honoring 11 seniors. One night later, the Lettermen's Ball was held featuring the Reactions' music.

Officers for this year were President Greg Nyboer, Vice-President Max Minnick, Secretary Tom Donaldson, Treasurer Charlie Earhart, and Sergeant-at-arms Jim Moorehead.

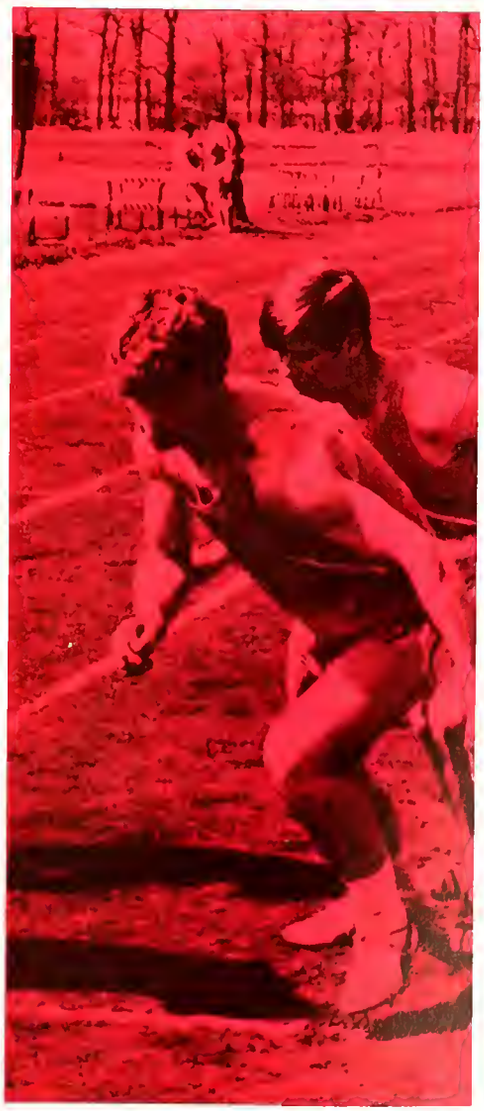
The patterns of sports



Competition—patterns not only
Literally in strategy and plays,
But patterns in teamwork
And co-operation.
The importance of these patterns
Shows as men and boys develop
Into adults and responsible members
Of the human race.
Patterns of dependence on others,
While still being independent
And thinking,
Grow from being a sportsman
And a working member of a team.
Where performance
And not race, creed, or color
Is the emphasized quality,
Men can become men
On their own merit.
Patterns of sportsmanship create
The ability to accept defeat gracefully
And to try again and again.

Team depth and effort lead Pirate Cindermen to 6 win — 3 loss record

Paced by team captain John McCord and junior Greg Johnson, the Pirate cindermen raced to another successful season, registering six wins and three losses.

All-around man Tim Hallam, half-miler John Yates, and two-miler Rick Wilson provided the necessary depth to assure Pirate victories in several close meets.

Outstanding performances were recorded by John McCord in the 880 and 440 yard dashes, and in the mile relay. He also furthered the Corsairs with a first place Sectional win and commendable performances in both the Regional and State meets.

Greg Johnson and Rick Wilson carried the distance races, placing first and fourth respectively in the Sectional. Greg's winning time of 10:17 had been bettered only by former Pirates Scott Hiles and Don Weathers.

Buccaneer nine compiles twelve win—twelve loss season

Coach Paul Bradford's 1969 varsity baseball team, led by the hitting of senior letterman Neal Rector, battled through a rebuilding year to record a twelve win-twelve loss season. Rector led the team in hits, runs-batted-in, and batting percentage. Juniors Tim Albea, Greg Tipton, and Jim Moorehead provided a good backup for Rector.

The pitching of the team revolved around juniors Roger Ashley and Ned Campbell.

Victories included wins over New Castle, Muncie South, and Muncie Central. A devastating victory over Markleville in the sectional was followed by a third loss to city-rival and semi-finalist Anderson.

The reserve team, coached by Jim Sutton and Mike Mundy, ended the season with an eleven and three record.

Individual MH gridders earn state, county recognition in '69 competition

Possessing an explosive offense and a usually invulnerable defense, the 1969 Pirate football squad ground out a record of 7 wins and 3 losses and led the county in every statistical department.

John Yates deftly tormented defenses, passing to All-Stater Jim Moorehead and junior Gussie Smith, with credit going to senior linemen Alan Taylor, Ken Perkins, and Gary Leuteritz. Outstanding on defense were Rick Myers, Kent Campbell. Gary Boards, Russ Taylor, and Gussie Smith.

Opening the season with a big victory over Shelbyville, the Pirates suffered a major defeat at the hands of number one-ranked Marion. After defeating some of the better teams in the state, the only other two losses were recorded at Noblesville and Anderson.

This year's reserve squad, coached by Mike Mundy and Dave Nicholson, showed much potential, with a record of 6-3-1. For the first time in several years, the reserve Bucs beat cross-town rival Anderson.

Dual meet at all-school convocation highlights '69-'70 wrestling season

Enjoying the most successful season in the school's history, the 1969-70 Madison Heights' wrestling team, under the direction of Coach Fred Lamb, compiled an 11-3 record.

Contributing to the fine season were several individuals with outstanding records. Sophomores Tony Boards and Sam Burt compiled 19-1 and 12-5 records, respectively. Juniors Steve Gourley and Gary Boards recorded 15-4 and 15-2 records. Senior Alan Taylor recorded a 12-3 record.

In the sectional Tony Boards, Steve Gourley, and David Humphries all captured second, but the team could do no better than sixth.

SWIMMING

Three individual tankmen, four-man medley relay team set MH records

Led by state qualifier Mike Withers, Charlie Earhart, and Curt Farran, the 1969-70 Corsair swim team splashed to a season record of 4 wins and 8 losses.

Charles Earhart's 1:02.0 in the 100 yard butterfly and Mike Wither's 23.8 in the 50 yard freestyle and 1:01.7 in the 100 yard backstroke were new records for the Buc tankmen. The 200 yard medley relay team of Withers, Beardon, Earhart, and Farran posted a record time of 1:53.0. Tom Hale garnered 186.65 points in the 1 meter diving to gain the last schoolmark.

Other top performers for the Pirates were seniors Fox and Stephenson, juniors Ramsey, Prather, and Bennett, and freshman Rick Ainsworth.

BASKETBALL

Pirate netmen add third sectional crown to Corsair trophy collection

Buck's Bucs brought home the Sectional trophy this year by defeating Lapel, cross-town rivals Highland, and finally scalping the Indians in the championship game. The 1969-70 Mighty Mites battled to a creditable 16 won-18 lost record over their foes. The Bucs capsized the Indians' canoe to win the coveted city championship crown and reaked revenge over the state-ranked Marion Giants.

On the individual scene, Kent Campbell and Jim Morehead played for the first time with the Pirates. Coy and Roy Nunn provided a neat one-two punch as they engineered the Pirate offense around center Lew Cotton. John Yates and Greg Nyboer proved a great combination on offense as well as defense. Cotton set a new school record with an average of fifteen rebounds per game. Coach Buck's bench had great strength and depth, with back-up players John Youngblood and Bob Wilkerson.

The reserves, coached by Jim Sutton, recorded a 14 won-6 lost record, sparked by the performances of Mark Safford, Kelton Dickey, and Isaiah Jackson, who will provide varsity material next year. The reserves also matched the varsity by winning the Holiday Tourney.

Opponents struggle for possession of a rebound ball during a tense third quarter.

The patterns of people

Patterns of personalities—
Complex and diverse—
Conforming in the trivial things
And independent in the important.
Faculty and students uniting
To form the population of
Madison Heights High School—
Working together in any performance
And competing to do their best.
Patterns in individualism—
From these patterns come the lasting
Friendships and loves
That sometimes live throughout
Our lives.
Even those people who only enter our
Lives temporarily—transient—
Affect us and form part of
The pattern of the soul.

Buccaneer policies piloted by Anderson School Board

The Anderson School Board helped guide another year of growth at Madison Heights and other Anderson city schools. Among the many jobs of the board were hiring teachers, distributing funds, and setting school policies.

Five members, appointed by the mayor and confirmed by City Council, constituted the board. Before the school year began, a budget was prepared allotting the payment of teachers' salaries and the general improvement of facilities.

ADMINISTRATION

Principal Collier engineers Pirates' policies in '69-'70

The responsibility of the MH administration fell to Principal Robert E. Collier, who directed a staff of 76 teachers and 1,397 students.

Assuming the role as Dean of Girls, Mrs. Lee Johnson became the newest addition to the administrative staff. Dean of Boys, Mr. John Dull, and Mrs. Johnson offered guidance to all students, and regulated disciplinary procedures.

Striving to achieve an effective school program, Vice-Principal Paul W. Redding assisted Principal Collier. The administration was in charge of directing the policies of Madison Heights High School throughout the year.

Mr. Collier organizes activities with the ability necessary to effective management.

Vice-Principal Redding's expression indicates concern for his responsibilities.

FACULTY

Faculty aims to build desire, enrich learning, reap results

Mesmerized by Buc net action, Mr. Bradford joins ushers Jay Edwards and Jim Phillips.

Besides supervising the daily routine of the over 1,350 Madison Heights students this year, many of the 76 MH educators sponsored organizations, coached athletic teams, officiated at football and basketball games, pursued Master's degrees, and were active participants in community organizations. The eleven department heads supervised the selection of new equipment and textbooks, and guided the course of study followed by each teacher during the year.

Two MH teachers filled city administrative positions this year. Assuming the post of Area Social Studies Supervisor was Mr. Henry McClain, while Mr. Maurice Wann was again Area Math Supervisor.

Counselors calm curricula confusion, post-grad anxieties

Curricula confusion experienced yearly by many students posed a basic problem which MH counselors sought to minimize.

Arranging sophomore schedules Mr. Ron Beard answered questions in individual conference with underclassmen. New to counseling this year, Mrs. Louise Grantham prepared junior scholars for their senior year. Head counselor Forrest Schepper calmed college jitters as seniors tested for college or vocational entrance, in addition to planning final high school schedules.

Services provided by janitors, cooks fulfill MH needs

Under the supervision of Head Custodian John Baker, a maintenance crew of seven men kept the school grounds free from litter, and kept the classrooms clean and uncluttered. Matron Shirley Pope was responsible for the girls' restrooms and the lounges and offices.

Twenty-two cooks were kept busy in the cafeteria preparing hundreds of well-balanced plate lunches, hot and cold sandwiches, and various a la carte items for over two thousand Madison Heights Junior High and Senior High School students and faculty daily.

Kuntz, Radaker, Byrne, Edwards navigate seniors across '70 seas

Copping first place in the Homecoming float competition, the senior float sported a giant roll of aluminum foil and the slogan "Foil 'Em with Rebel's Wrap." Seniors boasted Debbie Byrne as 1969 Homecoming Queen. Football concessions, used to raise treasury funds, were the responsibility of senior volunteers.

"George Washington Slept Here," directed by Senior Class and Thespian sponsor, Mr. William A. Jennings, was presented two nights in the MH gymnasium by senior actors.

Holiday festivities were highlighted by the Senior Christmas Dance, "A Christmas Carol," supervised by Nancy Durham and Cindy Upchurch. "The Reactions" provided the sound for 120 couples.

Seniors exhausted a storehouse of energy during Scarlet and Black Week. Winning first-place honors for their hall display, "Pirates are a Sure Bet," senior Pirate enthusiasts also won the JR award for overall spirit and their work on a gayly decorated cafeteria.

With commencement in sight, Executive Council and Senior officers Bill Kuntz, Sheila Radaker, Lee Ann Edwards, and Debbie Byrne made final arrangements for Senior Week festivities. The class flower, Sweetheart roses, and the senior motto, "They who dare to dream, dare to do," were displayed during the graduating ceremonies.

Leadership grows as junior classmen select Hiatt, Fox, Keith, Mickey

Juniors repeatedly demonstrated that spirit was the watchword throughout the year. At a pep session before the Madison Heights-Anderson football game, the class carried away the spirit stick with the cry of "Pow Wow the Indians." Gayle Hite was nominated junior Homecoming queen candidate. A class float proclaiming "Repel the Rebels" founded the field.

Busy juniors helped to finance the 1969-70 Prom by selling concessions during basketball games. a tri-chairmanship consisting of Brad Manifold, Denise Morris, and Jennifer Wofford guided prom plans and members of the junior class worked long hours to construct the dance.

Junior Executive Council met on Mondays with sponsor Mr. Mitchell Sokol. Officers Brad Hiatt, Mary Ann Fox, Gwen Keith, and Lynn Mickey led juniors through the '69-70 year.

The aftermath of a basketball game means clean-up to Mary Ann Fox.

JUNIOR CLASS OFFICERS — Lynn Mickey, treasurer; Brad Hiatt, president; Mary Ann Fox, vice-president; Gwen Keith, secretary.

JUNIOR EXECUTIVE COUNCIL—Front Row: Jennifer Wofford, Denise Morris, Dawn Nyboer, Marc Scharnowske, Mark Safford, Anita Clayton, Gwen Keith, Helen Bilbrey, Vickie Wetzel, Mary Ann Fox, Darla Merritt. Back Row: Brad Hiatt, Gary Boards, Johnny Youngblood, Jim Herbert, Rick Todd, Gayle Hite, Becky Stark, Lynn Mickey, Randy Pring, Mr. Michael Sokol.

Members of homeroom 223 calculate the float proportions from mental blueprints.

SOPHOMORE CLASS OFFICERS—Kathy Short, secretary; Janet Hubler, treasurer; Robin Massengale, vice-president; Mark Funkhouser, president.

Five hundred sixty-three bewildered but excited sophs entered the doors of MHHS with high hopes and ambitions as they began careers as Madison Heights Pirates.

Southside and MHJHS students fused to form one class and shared in their first class officers' election. Nineteen were chosed from homerooms to the Sophomore Class Executive Council and six were elected at large to Student Council.

Under the direction of Mr. Jeff Seulean the sophomores built a Homecoming float as their first project. Sophs backed the Pirates with their slogan "Pirates Rise to a Victory". Sophomore homeroom 36 won top honors in its category with the theme "Watch it Rebels, You're in Pirate Waters".

The class of '72 became the first sophomore class in MH history to present a class play. The play was given at Turtle Creek Nursing Home as a Christmas project.

SOPHOMORE EXECUTIVE COUNCIL-Front Row: Kathy Short, Linda Givan, Janet Hubler, Debbie Jones, Teresa Burk, Connie Fuller, Cora Hammones. Row 2: Jay Edwards, Cindy Radaker, Debbie Burke, Dave Bollinger, Steve Porter, Mr. Jeffrey Seulean. Back Row: Mark Funkhouser, Dawn Elmore, Robin Massengale, Louann Bassemer, Mike Janes, Clarence Swain.

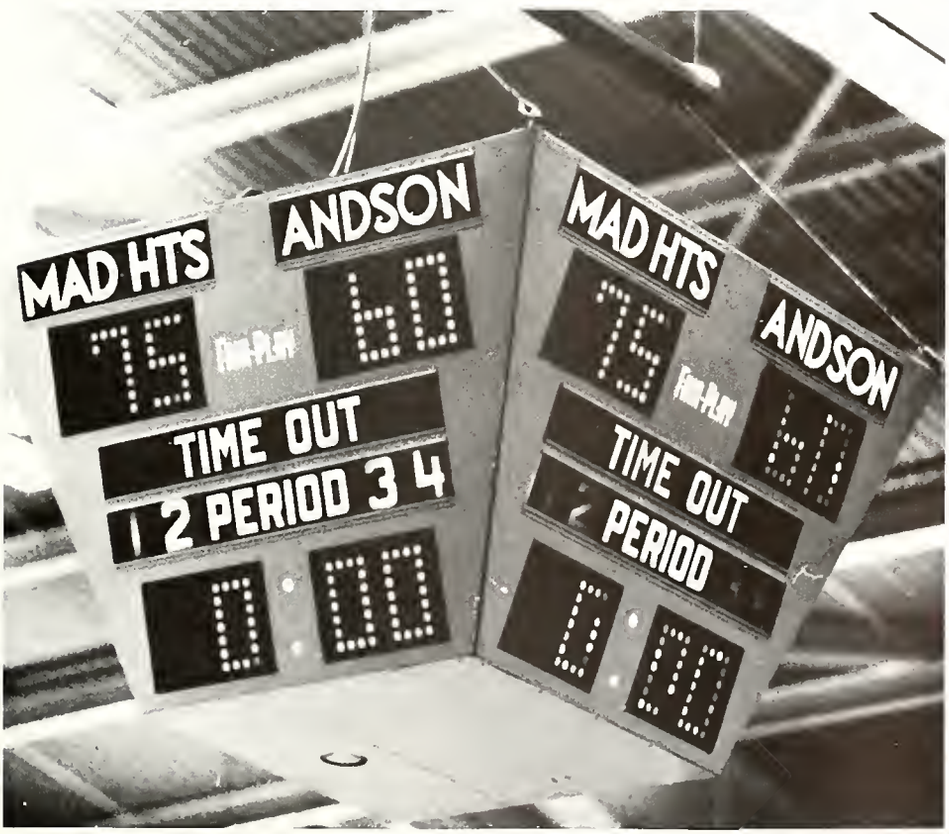
Patterns . . .

A memory is forever
And each life is rich
And full of them.
As some progress to the
Ending and the beginning,
The sadness of the happy times
Overwhelms
And there are tears for just a while
Because It's time to leave
Those who have helped
To shape minds and spirits.
Then a glimmer of a smile appears,
For the pattern of the future
Is just beginning.



Patterns . . .

Students coming and going
Leave a mark on MHHS.
Giving and gaining
At the same time,
Creating futures
To look forward to
And pasts
To remember.
The pattern of living
A complete life
Begins here . . .
Begins now.
The pattern doesn't alter.
From the shadows of our yesterdays
Will emerge our tomorrows.

Beginning with one common goal and much desire to work, the 1970 Treasure Chest staff organized the school year from March, 1969, to March, 1970, in the form of a yearbook. Our unforgettable work sessions, familiar staff parties, and treasured friendships were important parts of the production of this book. The staff morale seemed to be the driving force responsible for the numerous layouts, copy blocks, and photographs. Each staff member did his part in the making of the 1970 annual. Behind each element of the 1970 Treasure Chest hides the work of the staffers.

We would like to express our sincere appreciation to the administration, athletic department, faculty, and Jolly Roger staff for their cooperation in the production of the 1970 Treasure Chest. For special services to the staff we would like to thank Mrs. Ann Smith, our advisor, Jeff Atteberry, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gibson, and Mrs. Mintauts Jansons.
